DOUG SCARBROUGH RETURNS AS STAR OF '71 CITY OF HOPE SPECTACULAR

PORTERVILLE – A singer who was "discovered" on the City of Hope Spectacular six years ago, will return Saturday night as the star of the 1971 edition of the show - Doug Scarbrough - who, for a period of four years was baritone soloist with the famous and elite vocal group, "The Singing Sergeants" of the United States Air Force.

Scarbrough, recently discharged from the military service and living with his family in Visalia, was first-place winner in a world-wide Air Force talent contest in 1967, then appeared throughout the world with the Air Force band and The Singing Sergeants, including a command performance in the White House.

Raised at Strathmore, and a graduate of Strathmore high school, Scarbrough is now planning a professional career. He already has a long list of credits in musical comedy, light opera and night clubs.

"I believe that Doug has one of the finest, young singing voices in America today," says Buck Shaffer, producer-director of the City of Hope Spectacular that will be presented in the Porterville Memorial auditorium February 20.

And also returning to the Spectacular stage will be the colorful Debonaire Dancers, from Bakersfield, under the direction of Johnny Soiu; and Antoinette Hogan will be back with the "Hogan Troupe," presenting, "Christmas In Vera Cruz."

New to the Spectacular stage this year will be the "Joyful Noise," three singing teachers from the Bakersfield area - Brent Grover, Jim Reed, and Ed Metcalf.

Also new will be Davalynn Chamberlain - "Miss Porterville;" Ralph Rose, a professional actor now residing in Porterville; the Monache Chamber Singers from Monache High school, under direction of Dale Anderson; and Eddie & Bill, specifically Eddie Hunt and Bill Ingram, in a comedy routine.

And out of the Fabulous Studio band, that will back the show, will come Eddie Buchanan and his trumpet to recreate the famous "Sugar Blues."

Gary Garcia, who has appeared on several City of Hope Spectaculars, will be back again with a new number - and he will play his own accompaniment on the piano.

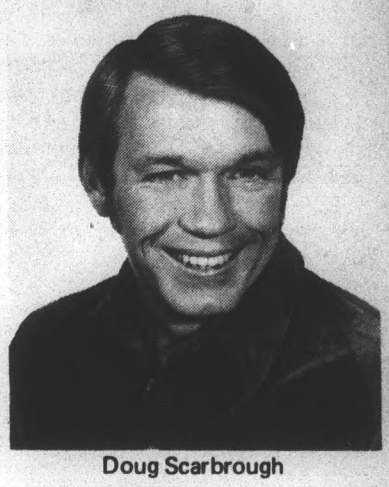

Balance of the show will be booked by Shaffer, following the selection of acts by a special committee from auditions held last night.

The show this year will be dedicated to Kathy Axman, one of the stars of last year's show, who was taken by death shortly after the show.

Master of ceremonies for the '71 Spectacular will be Bill Rodgers.

Tickets for the show are available at many business houses in the community and will be sold at the door Saturday night. Adult donation is $1.00; children under 12 years, 50 cents. Curtain time is set for 8 p.m.

The annual City of Hope Spectacular is sponsored by the Porterville Auxiliary of the City of Hope, headed by Peter J. Varekois. All funds raised go to the City of Hope medical facility at Duarte that is dedicated to treatment and research aimed at conquering the catastrophic diseases.

Rehabilitation, New Construction Provided For In Proposed $2 Million Elementary School Bond Issue

PORTERVILLE – Voters in the Porterville elementary school district will decide March 2 whether to adopt a $2 million school bond issue. The bond, proposed by a 47-member Master Plan Advisory committee, would provide for rehabilitation and construction of new school facilities in the district.

The committee, appointed by the Porterville district governing board, began its investigation of elementary school facilities more than a year ago.

The committee's proposal is that the bond money be spent in three areas; rehabilitation of existing facilities, construction of 15 new facilities for Bartlett and Pioneer junior high schools, and the purchase of instructional equipment.

In the area of rehabilitation, repairs were divided into five categories: Air conditioning, lighting, ceiling repair, floor covering, and miscellaneous painting. For these improvements the anticipated cost for Bartlett school is $168,120; Belleview, $66,000; John J. Doyle, $122,240; Olive, $88,320; Pioneer, $53,480; Roche, $89,000; Vandalia, $100,000; Westfield, $72,980; and West Putnam, $79,480. The sub total for these improvements is $839,620. With an additional $83,962 for contingencies and fees the total rehabilitation cost is $923,582.

A breakdown of the Bartlett construction is: One music facility, $40,000; one girls' shower and locker facility, $90,000; one boys' shower and locker facility, $90,000; one new food service and multi-purpose facility.

Editorial Comment

CRIME'S COST A CRIME

There is an old saying that the United States Supreme Court reads the newspapers. Certainly in its recent decision narrowing a ruling of the liberal Warren court concerning the rights of criminals the Burger court has acted in concert with a strong public feeling that more attention should be given to the rights of victims and law enforcers.

The reason for that growing concern is frighteningly highlighted by the recent report from the Department of Commerce and the Law Enforcement Administration of the Department of Justice.

The report reveals that between 1960 and 1970 the spending in the United States for police, courts and prisons leaped from $3.5 billion to $8.5 billion. The 1970 figure was up $1.2 billion from 1969.

The burden of these costs rests largely with local governments. According to the report, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969, counties, cities and towns paid $4,691 million of the nation's $7.3 billion total. State governments paid $1,849 million, the federal government $800 million.

That averages out to just about $37 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

California ranks fourth nationally in the cost-per-person of crime, with $50.10, and a very close second to New York in total cost, with $1 billion.

In total costs of police protection in this state Los Angeles is first (third in the nation) with $91.9 million. San Francisco follows with $26.6 million, San Diego with $12.6, Oakland with $12.1 and Long Beach with $11.9 million.

To the average taxpayer the great crime is the cost of crime. Any move toward a less legalistic and more realistic administration of justice is reassuring.

EVEN THE FRENCH SING PRAISES OF THE ORANGE AS A COLD PREVENTATIVE

Everyone seems to be concerned about the common cold - even the French people. . . But in France, they've found the answer. Eat oranges.

At least that's what a recent advertisement in a French newspaper propounds, as translated from the newspaper: A SHOCK TREATMENT AGAINST COLDS . . . ORANGES . . . A COMPLETELY NEW DISCOVERY BY DOCTORS.

Sore throats, colds, influenza, - Fall has hardly begun that already practically everywhere, people sneeze, they cough, eyes are watering. How to escape those symptoms? I will give you a trick which is as simple as it is efficient: Eat oranges. Eat them every day, until Spring. They kill the 19 bacteria of influenza, sinus irritation, and bronchitis.

It is the best of preventive medicines. Oh Yes! You will tell me, I know why, just as everybody else does: oranges are rich in Vitamin C and Vitamin C strengthens mucous membranes; it helps them resist the attacks of germs. No, that's not it at all. It is true that oranges contain Vitamin C, but it contains something far more important: a strong disinfectant.

American researchers have just discovered that orange pulp - that is, the part which you eat - contains a substance which radically destroys bacteria. And particularly the 19 varieties which are found every time an analysis is made of the mucous of the people suffering from colds or flu.

IF YOU EAT ORANGES EVERY DAY, THE BACTERIA WILL BE KILLED AS YOU RECEIVE THEM WITHOUT HAVING HAD THE TIME TO ATTACK THE MUCOUS MEMBRANES.

You will withstand all of the common winter diseases from the plain cold to real bronchitis. This disinfecting characteristic of oranges is so strong that the American scientists who discovered it envisage in the future the use of orange pulp extract to preserve milk instead of sterilizing it by the heat process as it is done today.

As far as you and the object of your worries are concerned - that is colds, some advice: If you do not like orange sections, you may drink them in the form of juice, on one condition however: after extracting the juice, drink it as such without straining it; I repeat it is the pulp which contains the strongest proportion of this natural bacteria killer. When straining the juice, you retain in the strainer the most important part of the pulp. Or an important part of the bactericide. And the effect is weakened.

HEART SUNDAY CLIMAXES FEBRUARY'S HEART DRIVE

PORTERVILLE – The climax of Porterville's Heart Fund drive will be on Heart Sunday, February 28, when contributions will be turned in by volunteers participating in a door-to-door drive. The volunteers, recruited by local offices of the Central Valley Heart association, will work under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Merzoian, chairman of the 1971 Heart Sunday appeal.

Members of the Westfield, Vandalia, and Urbaneers 4-H clubs will be covering the urban districts, and blocks in the city not covered by a recruited worker.

Also participating in the drive will be Douglas filling stations, who will give two cents to the fund for every gallon of gas dispensed from a designated "Heart Pump" at all participating Douglas Oil dealers. The Douglas Oil station in Porterville is at 921 West Olive. Other participating stations are in Fresno, Clovis, Corcoran, Selma, Visalia, and Pixley.

Heart Fund contributions go to fight diseases such as heart attack, stroke, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, rheumatic fever, and inborn heart defects.

An estimated 1.5 million acres of "new" land will come under irrigation in the Central valley, according to economists, within the next 30 years. By the year 2000 it is predicted that there will be 10 million acres in production in the state, principally due to the California aqueduct.

BOX SOCIAL RAISES MONEY; SPRINGVILLE 4-H EVENTS PLANNED

By Douglas Schultz

SPRINGVILLE – The Annual Box social of the Springville 4-H club was held at the Springville Memorial building on the evening of February 9; auctioneering the event was Beef Leader Dale Gill, who, aided by Phil Olson, drew $96.20 from the bidders, some buying two or more of the gayly decorated boxes.

The serving committee, with Lance Swift as chairman, kept the coffee cups and punch glasses filled; clean-up committee, led by Mike McGuire had the Memorial hall cleaned up and ready for the business meeting in a matter of minutes.

President Steve Johnson called the meeting to order and Connie Brassfield led the club in the Flag Salute and Bobby Phillips led the 4-H Pledge.

The club was reminded of the Snow Party invitation from the Success Valley 4-H club and a head count was taken to see how many would be going. Approximately 41 members will meet at the Lodge at Ponderosa between 10:00 and 10:30 a.m. on Sunday morning February 21.

A report on the "Favorite Foods Day" held in Visalia on February 6th was given by Karen Olson. Attending the event with Karen were Mark Craig, Sharon McDonald, and Philip Olson. Second place ribbons were won by both Mark and Philip.

Project reports were heard from Ann K. Cummings, Mary Lisa Barrett, Gayle Metcalf, Diane Slusher, Julie Lee, and Betsy Atkin on their sewing projects. Steve Choate gave a report on his rabbit project and Roy Swift made a report on his horse project.

A motion was made and carried that the club would pay half of the fee for the Junior Leaders who will attend the Junior Leader Retreat at Scicon on the weekend of March 6 and 7.

The club also voted to enter a float in the Springville Rodeo parade to be held Saturday morning, April 3, and three chairmen, Betsy Atkin, Karen Olson and Craig Darling will head the committee with the help of Phil Olson. Jim Bodley offered the use of his truck and a decorating committee will be assigned at the next meeting. All members who wish to ride on the float must be in uniform.

Members were also reminded that there would be a 4-H hot dog booth at the Springville Rodeo grounds during the two-day rodeo, and adult chairmen will be announced at the next meeting. All available members are asked to plan on helping in the booth at intervals and the entire club should try to be in attendance for the clean-up of the Rodeo Grounds when the activities end. Final details will be announced at the next monthly meeting.

On Tuesday evening, March 9 at 7:00 p.m. the club will hold Parents night. The main event of the evening will be a white elephant sale. All members are urged to dig out any saleable objects they could donate for this event which will be conducted as an auction, with the officers and high school members taking turns auctioneering. Parents of all members are invited to attend this meeting.

YELLOW CENTER LINES

SACRAMENTO – California's two lane streets and highways will acquire yellow center lines to replace the familiar white center line stripes. According to Frank Turner, federal highway administrator, the change-over will begin immediately on a regular replacement basis as the old stripes require repainting. Multi-lane streets have had yellow center lines for many years, and now the two-lane roads will also change to this system.

CONQUEST OF CANCER IS SUBJECT OF NEW BILL

WASHINGTON D.C. – A "Conquest of Cancer Act," co-sponsored by congressman Bob Mathias, would establish a National Cancer authority and double the investment for research on the causes of cancer. The new act would authorize $400 million for research and would increase this amount up to $1 billion a year as soon as possible.

California's strawberry crop was hit in the bloom stage by frost, resulting in a slight setback, but warm weather has aided growth and the crop is making good gains.

Prices received by U.S. farmers increased 19% between 1946 and 1970, but prices paid by farmers went up 87%.

Electricity is vital to your way of life.
So is a healthy environment.
We're working to bring you both.

Another generation gap?

Nuclear power plants can help close it.

In Southern California, the need for electric generating capacity has more than doubled in the last ten years. It is anticipated that public needs for electricity will continue to increase.

To meet this growing need, Edison must build additional generating plants now. Otherwise an electric generation gap could occur by 1976.

One of the ways we plan to avoid a power shortage is by constructing additional nuclear power units at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station near San Clemente. Although now underway, the first addition will not be ready for commercial operation before 1976.

But some people oppose construction of these units. One of their concerns is radiation. Actually, radiation is a natural phenomenon. Background radiation is everywhere and always has been. It comes from the food you eat, the air you breathe, the materials used to build your home. The San Onofre nuclear plant is a source of some radiation, too. The question is, how much additional radiation are people exposed to living near San Onofre?

The answer: so little that an elaborate monitoring program for the area surrounding the plant has yet to detect any additional radiation from operation of the plant.

Another concern may be the warm water released by nuclear power plants. At San Onofre, sea water is used to cool the plant condensers, and then the warmed water is returned to the sea.

To determine whether this harms the marine environment, Edison commissioned an oceanographic company of national stature to monitor the offshore waters both before and after the plant was built.

Result: nineteen reports, compiled over a seven-year period, reveal no significant changes in the marine environment. And that's after three years of plant operation.

In addition, the California State Department of Fish and Game made its own study of the same marine area in 1969. The Department concluded that the nuclear unit's operation did not appear to have had an adverse effect on the near-shore marine environment.

Based on these and other facts, we believe nuclear plants are a safe and sensible way to generate electricity. Clean, too. Since there's no combustion in a nuclear reactor, no by-products of combustion are released into the atmosphere.

At Edison, we plan to rely more and more on nuclear power to meet the growing need for electricity in the 14-county area we serve.

Frost Damage Is Minimal

PORTERVILLE – Frost damage to Navel oranges in the Porterville, Lindsay, Strathmore, and Terra Bella areas during the January freeze is not classified as major by the California Crop and Livestock reporting service, except in the case of some individual growers. Hardest hit areas were from Exeter north.

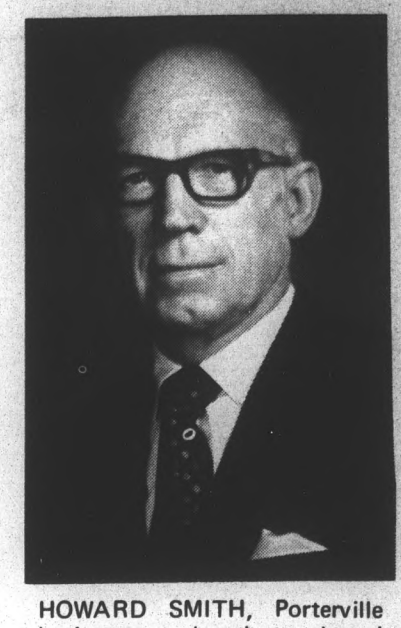

Seasons Ending For Hunters

LONG BEACH – California's 1970-71 general hunting seasons have ended on all but two species of game, black brant and jack rabbits, according to Ward Gillilan, information officer for the Department of Fish and Game.

The brant hunting season closes at sunset on February 21, and jackrabbit season remains open year round, with no bag limit, from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

California's 1970 hunting regulations covering resident game remain in effect through June 30. It will be late June before the 1971-72 hunting rules can be printed in booklet form, according to Gillilan.

The following season-opening dates are adhered to unless some extenuating circumstances arise: Rabbits, first Saturday in July; early deer season, first Saturday in August; late deer season, Saturday nearest September 23; quail and chukar, last Saturday in October; doves, September 1.

HOWARD SMITH, Porterville businessman, has been elected chairman of the Porterville State Hospital Advisory board. Jay M. Cotton Clinic Presents Speakers And Panelists

FRESNO – A statewide Cotton Clinic, sponsored by the California Cotton Research Council, will be held at Del Webb's Towne House in Fresno, February 24 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Three cotton growers will serve as panel moderators for the clinic.

Ron Allen of Coalinga, council chairman, announced the three panels and their moderators as: Narrow Row Studies - Jack Stone, Kings County; The Changing Picture of Insect Control - Bob Meyer, Imperial County; and Reverse the Decline in Yields - Bob Mortimer, Madera County.

Each panel will have as speakers research specialists and University of California Extension personnel. Summations will be given by Marvin Hoover, University of California cotton specialist at the Shafter Station; Hodge Black, University of California Extension entomologist at Bakersfield; and H.B. Hewitt, director of the Kearney Field Station at Reedley.

Allen said the three panels will present final research findings of the past year, information not available until now. The clinic is being held on the eve of the planting season, he said, to give growers the advantage of the very latest production research data. Growers from all parts of the California cotton belt are invited to attend the program.

We're not sure whether earthquakes and floods or four day weekends are the most devastating. Those that work the holidays have to work harder. Those that vacation get trampled in the rush. Those that stay home work themselves to death. We suppose the next step in being efficient will be to take all the holidays and group them together into one two week bust. That way we can travel twice as far and see half as much.

So much for statistics. It is almost spring and you should be thinking of enjoying your yard. The things you plant now will be the things you will enjoy later. Whether they be petunias or tomatoes the small started plants are awaiting your personal touch. These are relatively inexpensive plants costing only a few cents each yet growing quickly to reward you for your effort.

Spring flowering shrubs will soon be in their glory. You should keep your eye out for these and if you see one that you especially like you can drop by and pick it up while the variety is fresh in your mind. Other flowering plants are ready now so come see for yourself on "E" Street - Porterville.

Bill Provides Protection Against Ill-Advised Taxes

SACRAMENTO – A constitutional amendment, ACA 33, designed to give new protection against ill-considered tax increase legislation to the taxpayer, has been co-authored by Assemblyman William Ketchum.

The present legislative voting requirements for tax changes requires two-thirds for banks, corporations and insurers, but a mere majority for such individual taxes as the personal income tax and the sales tax.

"While it is an obviously sound principle that tax increases by the Legislature should require a two-thirds vote," said Ketchum, "there is no reason why this should be the exclusive preserve of banks, corporations and insurers. The individual taxpayer is entitled to the same constitutional protection, and that is what ACA 33 gives him."

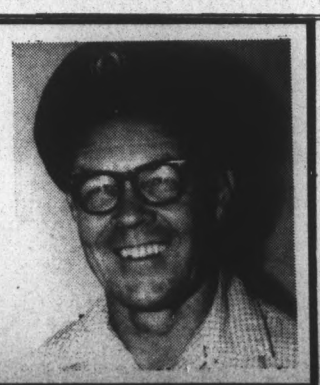

Before joining Assemblyman Richard Barnes as a coauthor of this measure Ketchum pointed out that he had considered and rejected the alternative of attaining uniformity through a simple majority vote for all tax measures.

"When we exercise this awesome power of taxation to take an individual's money without his consent and spend it for the common benefit," Ketchum stated, "we should at the very least be able to assure him that the action has the support of two-thirds of his elected representatives."

Yester-Years - An Accomplishment

By S. L. Creeks

During my 21 years on a chicken ranch at 1015 East Date Street I gained a wide acquaintance in the community and by chance, in the fall of 1946, learned of a project for the betterment of the populace at large. It all happened by being acquainted with Bob and Marg Branstetter who lived close to me. Marg had a woman's apparel store west of me in A.C. Anglin's building. We visited them quite frequent to play cards in the evening. Bob was at that time with the Department of Employment in Porterville.

One night at Bob and Marg's I became acquainted with a Mr. Pennington who was Supervisor over the State fire houses in the County. While visiting he mentioned why someone didn't try to get a fire station in Doyle Colony. Being attentive to his mention I carried it on to find out the procedures to obtain it. He told me to make a date to have the people of the community meet at the Doyle school and he would come from Visalia and explain what had to be done. I got permission to place a sign in Anglin's store and Lawrence Purnell's store of the deal. I called Mr. Pennington giving him the date which he fulfilled.

First I had to get me a committee to survey Date street for an appropriate place for the fire station. We came up with three locations. Next step was to get the county supervisors' O.K. on one of them. Suitable property was for sale for $1,100 which had to be paid for from donations. I then called the people together at Doyle school and picked volunteers to help me on the soliciting for donations. It wasn't too long till I had the money in hand and placed in escrow at the bank. The individual donations ran from fifty cents to five hundred dollars and I was very pleased with my committee's work.

The people that owned the property lived in Washington state so the bank sent for the deed. When it arrived the bank notified me so I and my wife could go in to sign it and other necessary papers which were sent back to Washington for the owners' signatures. When it arrived back the recorder's office at Visalia found a flaw in the deed so all that had to be done over. The deed was made out to I and my wife then after it was recorded we proceeded to turn the Deed over to the County so they would be the owners.

Several months lapsed before the paper work was completed and the County started on the building to house the fire engines and firemen. It was in 1948 when the fire station was put into active service and has done a good job in saving homes etc. It made me feel very good to think I accomplished something for so many people.

When I was going through all this I was also Master of Porterville Grange No. 718. The Grange is constantly seeking something they can do for the community, state, or nation so I submitted this project as theirs which they accepted. Two other projects attained during my terms in office was beautifing the three corner parcel of land where Sunnyside comes into North Main and the little city park on South Main street also the numbering of all roads in the county. This was a national project of the Granges throughout the U.S. Travelers find the numbered roads on the state and national maps which makes it easier to find places you wish to go.

BETTER HEALTH CARE OBJECTIVE OF DUFFY BILL

SACRAMENTO – Assemblyman Gordon Duffy has introduced legislation designed to encourage new and innovative programs for the education of physicians and other health care personnel.

Noting that health manpower is in short supply, Duffy has proposed that all existing community health care facilities be utilized for health sciences education.

"My proposal," Duffy said, "will provide health professions planning grants for non-profit organizations to develop community medical schools and other health science programs. Such programs will emphasize the preparation of practitioners who will bring the benefits of medical research to the people in their communities."

Duffy, who has authored other major legislation in the health area, including the new Physicians' Assistant law, indicated that this legislation will also provide encouragement to former military corpsmen to enter the civilian health care field where they are vitally needed.

Cotton Harvesting Complete; Grade Index Slightly Higher

BAKERSFIELD – Harvesting of the 1970-71 cotton crop is completed with the exception of a few bales according to Carl J. Lorenzen, head of the USDA's Consumer and Marketing service, Bakersfield Cotton Classing office. This season the office classed 550,000 samples for producers in Kern, Tulare and Kings counties, California and Nye County, Nevada, compared to 630,000 samples classed the previous season.

The grade index was higher at 95.9 compared to 94.2 for the 1969-70 season. Middling was the predominate grade, accounting for 49 percent of samples classed, strict low middling represented 36 percent, and low middling comprised only five percent. Near ideal harvesting weather contributed to the higher grades received this season.

The average staple was 35.3 32nds of an inch compared to 35.1 32nds of an inch for the 1969-70 season. Sixty percent of samples stapled 1-3/32 inches and 35 percent stapled 1-1/8 inches.

Micronaire readings were slightly lower this season. Ninety-one percent of samples tested fell in the 3.5-4.9 premium range. This compares to 95 percent the previous season.

Fiber strength was high according to Pressley tests. Approximately 100 percent of samples tested had a breaking strength of 85,000 psi or stronger for an average strength of 99,000 psi.

FARM LABOR BILL "URGENTLY NEEDED" IN CALIFORNIA AND IN NATION

SACRAMENTO – There is an urgent need for farm labor legislation in California, and several major agricultural organizations are joining in an effort to draft a bill and get it introduced into the state legislature early next month, the State Board of Agriculture was told at its January meeting in Sacramento.

Robert Brown, California Taxpayers Association representative in Sacramento, reported to the board that a meeting of these groups was held in Los Angeles in September and that it was agreed California has to move in the field of farm labor law.

Participating in the Los Angeles meeting in addition to Brown were Richard Johnsen, executive vice president of the Agricultural Council; Allan Grant, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation; and Jack Miller, general manager of the Agricultural Producers Labor Committee. Brown said.

Efforts to gain cooperation and support in the preparation of a farm labor law for California are being coordinated by this group, which has since been expanded, he said.

Brown indicated that these efforts are aimed at gaining broad-based nonpartisan support for the project, but that state legislators have been contacted and the group plans to work with labor organizations represented in Sacramento.

Brown emphasized that the legislative bill resulting from these efforts should be an industry-labor measure rather than an administration bill.

"What we are aiming at is a reasonable body of law that represents all of agriculture and is fair to both farmers and workers," he said.

Following Brown's talk, Board president Allan Grant commented that there is a growing recognition throughout the country of the need for farm labor legislation. In the absence of action at the federal level, said Grant, many states are working toward getting their own farm labor laws on the books.

He cited Michigan, Ohio, Texas, New York, Tennessee and Florida as some of the states that seem determined to take action in this area.

Grant indicated that if enough states institute their own legislative programs to bring order into the farm labor picture, it may influence Congress to act on a national bill.

Congress, he said, ordinarily does not like to see the states "usurp" what it considers a Congressional area of responsibility.

Grant told the Board he has been in touch with 31 of California's 38 congressmen and that plans are being made for a meeting in Washington in the near future, in which the lawmakers and all groups involved with agriculture could get together to pave the way for a constructive national farm labor bill.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

$200,000; contingencies and fees, $42,000. Total for the Bartlett school project would be $462,000.

Proposed for Pioneer school construction are: Three additional academic classrooms, $75,000; one library, $70,000; one music facility, $40,000; one arts and crafts, $45,000; one administration building, $45,000; one addition to multi-purpose room and expansion of food preparation facilities, $30,000; one girls' shower and locker facility, $90,000; one boys' shower and locker facility, $90,000; one toilet (2 units), $27,000. The sub total of these facilities is $512,000, plus $51,200 for contingencies and fees which brings the total to $563,200. The total for new construction at both schools is $1,025,200.

Construction of the music facility, and the food service and multi-purpose facility at Bartlett and the music facility and administration building at Pioneer is necessitated by the Field Act of 1933, according to the advisory committee. Total cost for these projects alone is $325,000.

In the area of instructional equipment such as tape recorders, film projectors, and overhead projectors the total is $30,000. This brings the grand total for all improvements proposed by the Advisory committee to $1,978,782.

The proposed improvements would make the facilities serviceable for another 30 years, according to the committee. The addition of cooling systems would make possible a 12-month school year. The feasibility of year-round classes is presently being considered by the administration and trustees.

If the project is adopted by voters, the tax rate increase would be approximately 15 cents and would continue for 17 years.

Desert Enjoyment To Be Assured By $12½ Million Study

SACRAMENTO – The Development and Resources Corporation of Sacramento has recommended a five year $12.5 million study to develop a management program for the California desert, J.R. Penny, California state director, U.S. Bureau of Land management, has announced.

Guidelines for the study, under a $13,000 contract from the California State office of BLM, would cover the 12 million acres of the desert administered by BLM, and another 12 million acres of the desert adjacent to and intermingled with the BLM land.

Penny said the comprehensive plan for the California Desert program is scheduled for completion in January, 1977, but this date depends on when the study can begin and the availability of funds.

The thrust recommended by D&R, he said, is to assure continued use of the desert by a rapidly growing number of people, especially for recreation, rather than trying to "lock up" the desert.

than 150 exhibitors had already signed up for Agri-Action '72. Exhibitors generally expressed praise for the show and satisfaction with the visitors they had talked to, he said. Many reported making sales or taking firm orders; others had solid leads or demonstrations lined up for later. Many manufacturers had lined up new dealers for their products.

Agri-Action '71 established a new record of 344 exhibitors displaying nearly $6,000,000 worth of farm supplies and products.

NAVY PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADS

PORTERVILLE – A Naval recruitment program has been designed for high-school-age men who wish to delay active duty for up to 180 days. The program, called "Cache," allows the recruit to complete high school graduation and select an active duty date at the time of enlistment. This program is open only to high school graduates and those who will graduate in June. Further information can be obtained from the Porterville Navy recruiter, located in the basement of the Porterville Post Office building.

warehouse, with shipments going out daily through the distribution area.

At present, three salesmen, with vans, are working out of the Porterville distribution center, however, this number will probably be doubled by the end of May. A total of from 10 to 12 persons will be on the JIMAR payroll.

Sixty Maverick dealers are now being serviced in the JIMAR area, with this number expected to increase by 100 or more within the next few months.

Porterville dealer for the machine is Vacation Trailer sales on West Olive.

Meade says that new models of the Maverick will be out late in March, designed for "the young and for the young-in-heart-adults." These models will be just under motorcycle size, but, as Meade says is the case with all Mavericks, will have big bike power with mini size.

Essentially the Maverick trail bike, according to Meade, is designed for children and adults who want to ride outdoors, but who do not want a big machine.

DISNEYLAND Y-DAY SET FOR FEBRUARY 27

PORTERVILLE – Y-Day in Disneyland has been set for Saturday, February 27, by the Porterville YMCA.

Y-Club members, 10 years and older, will be charged $16.00 each for round-trip chartered bus fare, admission to Disneyland with Magic-Pak ticket book, and YMCA adult supervision. Meals will be extra.

Non-members are also eligible to go but the package cost is $19.00 per person. Children younger than 10 years may accompany the group if parents are also in attendance.

New Firm Handles Grain-Feed Exchange

FRESNO – A marketing firm serving the area of Merced through Kern counties by buying and selling feedstuffs for poultry, beef, and dairy cattle recently opened a branch in Fresno. Marvin Smith, manager of the new branch of A.H. Ascherman, Inc., 1471 W. Shaw, said his San Francisco-based company deals in grains, alfalfa and rice products, and feed concentrates.

BILL IRONS, a direct descendant of Chief Grey Eagle and Chief Sitting Bull, will perform at the Cen-Cal Appaloosa Horse show that will be held February 20-21, at the Tulare County fairgrounds. Irons will present the Lord's Prayer and the National Anthem in universal sign language, wearing an authentic Sioux medicine man costume which was handmade by his mother, Luzetta Irons, of Eagle Creek, Oregon. He will perform Saturday, February 20, during the grand entry and crowning of the Cen-Cal Appaloosa queen.
